College of Law

Message from the Dean

Welcome to Stetson University College of Law!

The legal profession is changing. Now more than ever, the legal profession demands that law school graduates are prepared to not only think like lawyers, but have practical training to be successful in the practice of law much earlier in their careers. At Stetson -- you learn both.

As Stetson's dean, I am proud to lead an institution that has set the benchmark for blending theory and practice, consistently leading the nation with top rankings in advocacy and legal writing.

For more than 100 years, Stetson has taken a holistic approach to legal education, preparing lawyers and leaders for a life of professional excellence through teaching, mentoring and skills training, a place where learning takes place inside and outside the classroom. We place students first, creating a transformative educational experience that combines academic rigor with social responsibility. Our students and faculty engaged in more than 33,000 hours of public service last year, and Stetson is the home to innovative programs in advocacy, legal communication, social justice, veterans' initiatives, and elder law.

This is an exciting time, and I invite you to explore this website, visit our campus, and discover Stetson's vibrant intellectual environment and welcoming community.

Warmest regards,

Christopher M. Pietruszkiewicz
Dean and Professor of Law

Overview of Degree Programs

Juris Doctor (J.D.)

The College of Law offers full-time and part-time Juris Doctor graduate degree programs. Florida and most other states require a J.D. degree from an accredited U.S. law school before an individual may sit for the state bar examination.

Juris Doctor - Master of Laws Joint Degree program

Beginning in Spring 2015, Stetson University College of Law will offer a joint-degree program, allowing qualified students the opportunity to earn both a J.D. degree and an LL.M. degree in advocacy from Stetson in as little as three years.

Master of Laws (LL.M.)

Stetson Law's Master of Laws (LL.M.) degree programs are offered to students who have already received their first law degree at a law school accredited by the ABA or approved by the appropriate authority.

Master of Jurisprudence (M.Jur.) Degree Programs

Stetson offers advanced degrees for non-lawyers who wish to obtain a greater understanding of legal systems and concepts in the areas of international business, elder law, and healthcare compliance. Note: Admission to the M.Jur. programs does not guarantee admission to the J.D. program. Students who apply to the J.D. program after completing the M.Jur. may not transfer any M.Jur. courses or credits from that program to the M.Jur.
The Accelerated 3+3 Bachelor’s/J.D. programs

Stetson University College of Law has collaborated to offer certain high-performing undergraduate students an opportunity to reduce the time required to earn both a Bachelor's Degree and Juris Doctor degree. Students seeking a J.D. degree typically complete a four-year undergraduate program followed by three years of law school. This path allows qualified students to earn both their bachelor’s and J.D. degrees in six years. Stetson Law has Accelerated 3+3 Bachelor’s/J.D. program agreements with:

- Stetson University: College of Arts and Sciences, School of Business Administration
- University of South Florida: Honors College Tampa
- University of West Florida: College of Arts and Sciences
- Chatham University

Accelerated Juris Doctor for Foreign Attorneys

Stetson University College of Law will allow qualified foreign-educated attorneys the opportunity to apply as transfer applicants. This will allow candidates to complete the J.D. in an accelerated manner, typically two years if attending on a full-time basis. Candidates may also apply for part-time consideration. Following graduation, candidates may sit for the Bar Examination in any state.

Dual Degree Programs

Stetson University College of Law provides four dual degree programs for students to pursue two degrees simultaneously. JD/MBA (Master of Business Administration) and the JD/MIEL (Master in International Economic Law, in cooperation with Toulouse University, Toulouse, France).

Study Abroad & Intersessions

Stetson's study abroad programs provide opportunities for exploring the world while also earning class credit and learning about foreign legal systems.

Study Abroad in Granada, Spain

The Granada, Spain study abroad program is designed to prepare lawyers for the challenges of the international marketplace. The globalization of law practice and business is among the most significant developments shaping the legal profession. The development of multilateral trade agreements and increase in cross-border transactions will offer new opportunities for worldwide legal services, including resolution of disputes.

Course Descriptions

Week 1

(June 11-14, 2018)
Foundations of Nationalism, Globalism, and Human Rights (1 credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Timothy Floyd, Mercer University School of Law

This course will explore the historical evolution of modern human rights law and the role of that history and theory in current human rights law and global institutions. We will also note how pluralism, globalism, and universal human rights can be in conflict with nationalism and the modern nation state. We will explore how the categories of "humanity" and "rights" arose in classical thought, and we will trace that development through the Protestant Reformation, the Enlightenment, and the American and French Revolutions. We will then examine how a commitment to universal human rights, globalism, and pluralism became widespread since 1945, and we will study the development of international treaties and covenants and the global and multi-national institutions designed to enforce those rights. Nonetheless, nationalism and ethnic separatism remain strong forces, and over the past few years those forces seem to be on the rise in Europe and North America.

We will use the history of Granada and Spain as a case study for these developments. Medieval Spain had a relative degree of tolerance and pluralism among Muslims, Jews, and Christians, but that pluralism disappeared after 1492. From the 16th through the mid-20th century Spain resisted the modern trend toward human rights. After 1978, however, Spain has embraced human rights, pluralism, and democracy. At the same time, however, Spain is home to several ethnic separatist movements, including in the Basque region and in Catalonia.

Finally, we will return to the relationship of Christians, Muslims, and Jews, this time in the 21st Century. We will examine terrorism, the refugee crisis, and the impact of these on human rights and pluralism.

Week 2
(June 18-21, 2018)

Political Movements in Tax (1 credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Kristin Gutting, Charleston School of Law

Globally, especially considering release of the Panama Papers, international tax enforcement by tax authorities continues to increase to stop tax havens, money laundering, and tax evasion. Some methods of enforcement include public shaming, increased reporting requirements, information exchange programs, public awareness campaigns, and heightened penalties. This course will explore the various methods of international tax enforcement by the Internal Revenue Service and other international tax authorities, including the IRS Criminal Investigation Division's new international tax enforcement group, the United States Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act, and the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development's (OECD) Common Reporting Standard. Additionally, this course will explore the Agencia Estatal de Administracion Tributaria's (AEAT), the revenue service for Spain, enforcement methods, including examining AEAT's recent public shaming of legendary soccer stars Lionel Messi and Cristiano Ronaldo. No prior tax knowledge is required.

Week 3
(June 25-28, 2018)

The Internet, the Law, and Populist Uprisings (1 credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Catherine Cameron, Stetson University College of Law

The internet and social media have fueled many populist uprisings in the last decade even though the governments of many countries have exerted control over these vehicles of communication. Despite the vast bans on access of websites by Eastern European and Middle-Eastern countries, the taxations schemes placed on users of the internet employed by many Western European countries, and the heavy surveillance of the internet conducted by the United States, internet communications have been credited with spawning the Arab Spring, the US Occupy Movement, Spain's 15M movement, and Iceland's Kitchenware Revolution. This proposed course would focus on the various legal avenues governments have used to attempt to curtail internet communications to prevent populist uprisings by focusing on case studies of uprisings in specific countries and the legal recourses citizens of these countries have used to fight these government interventions.

Week 4
(July 2-5, 2018)

Social Movements and the Law and Technology of Free Speech and Government Surveillance (1 credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Marc Blitz, Oklahoma City University School of Law

The rise of computer and Internet technology is changing both the way that political movements organize collective action and express dissent. It is also changing the way that government actors mobilize their own supporters to achieve political goals, and conduct surveillance on those they deem dangerous. Protestors increasingly use SmartPhone- or computer- applications to organize protests, and use platforms such as YouTube to post videos of perceived government misdeeds. As is evident from many public officials' and candidates' recent use of Twitter, governments also use social media to shape public opinion and to mobilize their own supporters. And apart from using technology to disseminate their own messages, public officials also use technology to monitor — and, at times, thwart — communications by those they deem dangerous. They might intercept (and where, necessary, take steps to decrypt) e-mail messages or other Internet communications, use spyware, or use high-tech video surveillance or location tracking to gather information about individuals' public movements. In some countries and contexts, such surveillance methods may be aimed by law enforcement primarily at those planning terrorism or other crimes that threaten lives or property. In others, officials may use them to counter ideologies they see as a threat.

This course will explore how legal frameworks – primarily those rooted in constitutional or statutory law – shape political movements’ use of communications technology, and government responses to such communications (or emulation of it to mobilize their own supporters). It will focus on (1) the extent to which political movements use of Internet or other modern communication technology is protected by First Amendment freedom of speech and association in U.S. law and (2) whether and when government surveillance of such communications is limited by Fourth Amendment protections against “unreasonable government searches” by government limits, or by statutory limits on government surveillance (such as those in the Electronic Communications Privacy Act and the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act). Although it will use United States law as the starting point for analysis, the course will also look at decisions by the European Court of Human Rights that apply free speech and privacy protections to emerging technologies.

Study Abroad in The Hague, Netherlands

This summer, get a front-row seat for the study of international courts and tribunals through study abroad in The Hague, Netherlands. The Hague is recognized globally as a center for international institutions and tribunals and is one of two capitals in the Netherlands.

Course Descriptions - Track 1

Week 1
(July 9-12, 2018)

Human Rights in International Family Law (1 credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Louise Teitz, Roger Williams University School of Law

The purpose of this course is to explore the international legal framework in place to protect human rights primarily within one area, that of family law. The course will look at some of the international organizations, (e.g. the United Nations, the Hague Conference on Private International Law) and treaties (e.g., U.N. Convention on the Rights of the Child), as well as regional organizations (e.g., Council of Europe, EU), instruments that help protect families and children. National courts and institutions and their part will also be examined. The course will emphasize the role played by private international law in protecting families and children cross-border. The intersection of human rights and religion in family law will also be explored, as for example in the area of forced marriage/child marriage.

Current initiatives underway at the Hague Conference including in the area of cross-border surrogacy serve as case studies to examine the intersection of private international law and substantive law, public law and private rights, and the ways that private international law can shape and support underlying human rights. We will evaluate how well the existing mechanisms and institutions work to keep pace with the dynamic changes in these areas and protect human rights. The class will also explore the cutting edge developments in the jurisprudence of the Hague Child Abduction Convention and the role of regional European instruments (e.g., European Conv. on Human Rights) to secure human rights; the role of the Hague Child Protection Convention in protecting children crossing borders, refugees, and human trafficking.

Week 2
(July 16-19, 2018)

War Crimes and Courts-Martial (1 Credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Jennifer North, Charleston School of Law

This course will examine international law governing both the conventional and the modern battlefield – jus in bello – as it applies to military service members and to illegal combatants. The Law of Armed Conflict and the Geneva Conventions form the core of the course, alongside an introduction of the U.S. military justice system through review of the Uniform Code of Military Justice and the Manual for Courts-Martial. A comparison to prosecution through international tribunals such as the International Criminal Court and United Nations tribunals is included, as well as examining ethical concerns through the specific topics of torture, targeted killing, use of drones, and rules of engagement. Current events and historical cases illustrate course content and provide thoughtful opportunities for class discussion and analysis. Students will gain an appreciation for the interaction of the ideas of international law and practical moral dilemmas of engaging in combat.

Week 3
(July 23-26, 2018)

International Consumer and Privacy Law (1 credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Mark Bauer, Stetson University College of Law

Governments around the world work together and separately to protect consumers from fraudulent, deceptive, and unfair trade practices. Global trade has encouraged countries to endeavor to create some level of consistency in consumer protection and privacy law, which has been promoted by the United Nations, in its Guidelines for Consumer Protection, and ICPEN, which unites consumer protection authorities around the world. While many consider consumer protection and privacy to be a basic human right, lesser developed and developing nations often have enormous disparities in education levels and bargaining power between the manufacturers and sellers of products, and the buyers. This course will consider the evolution of consumer and privacy law from private disputes to public international law and human rights.
Week 4
(July 30-August 2, 2018)

International Intellectual Property Alternate Dispute Resolution (1 credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Darryl Wilson, Stetson University College of Law

This course will review what constitutes IP and the international treaties & bodies involved in addressing IP disputes via arbitration and mediation.

Course Descriptions - Track 2

Week 1
(July 9–12, 2018)

International Negotiation and Mediation (1 Credit)
INSTRUCTOR: James Sheehan, Stetson University College of Law

This will be an in depth discussion of the principles of negotiation and mediation as applied to international issues from the peace accords in North Ireland to the Orange Revolution in the Ukraine to war reparations. It is a study in history and human rights as well as the art of negotiation.

Week 2
(July 16-19, 2018)

Global Aging (1 credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Mark Bauer, Stetson University College of Law

The world’s elder population is growing because of demographic trends and longer lifespans. According to the UN, the world’s elder population will grow by 56% over the next 12 years, and will double to 2.1 billion by 2050. Any national or international human rights laws touch upon the needs of elders, but discrimination, abuse, and the medical problems associated with aging often stigmatize and marginalize elders as a unique group. Different nations have addressed these concerns and challenges with some success, but best practices rarely cross international borders. This course will consider aging policy and law around the globe, and the efforts to create a UN Convention on the Rights of Older People.

Week 3
(July 23-26, 2018)

Justice on Trial – The Nuremberg Justice Trials of 1947 (1 credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Edward C. LaRose, Stetson University College of Law

“Judgment at Nuremberg,” the 1961 movie with Spencer Tracy and Burt Lancaster, was riveting but not fanciful. The film is based on the Nuremberg Justice Trial of 1947 before a military tribunal. Sixteen defendants, members of the Reich Ministry of Justice or People’s and Special Courts, faced prosecution for their complicity in enforcing unjust laws against the so-called enemies of the Nazi regime.

The student will receive a brief overview of the German civil law system and will examine the judicial system as operated by the Nazis from 1933-1945. The student will become acquainted with the major defendants, the judges, the major prosecutors, and defense lawyers. On reading portions of the court decision and trial transcripts, the student will gain an insight into how a Western European legal system failed the people it was intended to protect. The course is relevant to an understanding of contemporary international tribunals addressing criminal conduct and crimes against humanity.

Week 4
(July 30-August 2, 2018)

International Human Rights and Policing in the U.S. (1 credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Judith Scully, Stetson University College of Law

In May 2015, the City of Chicago established a $5.5 million reparations fund for over 100 African American men tortured by Chicago police officers over the course of two decades (between 1973 and 1991). This course will focus on how lawyers with the assistance of community organizations placed pressure on the City of Chicago government to establish Reparations for these torture victims.

We will discuss how these legal activists leveraged their participation in international human rights tribunals of the United Nations – e.g., hearings held by the UN Committee Against Torture (CAT) and the UN Committee on the Elimination of Racial Discrimination (CERD) as well as the InterAmerican Commission on Human Rights -- to successfully pressure the City of Chicago to establish reparations. The reparations included not only a reparations fund, but an educational curriculum for middle and high school students telling the truth about this dark period of Chicago policing history; a monument to the victims of torture; a public apology from the City; and psychological support for the victims and their families.

This four day (12.5 hour) class will introduce students to the basic structure of human rights agencies and relevant international treaties. We will also focus on how nongovernmental organizations, lawyers, and community activists can utilize international human rights tribunals and human rights community education to achieve the goals of government accountability around the issue of police violence in the United States.
Study Abroad in Cape Town, South Africa

Week 1
(July 9-12, 2018)

South Africa: From Apartheid to Democracy (1 credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Sarah Gerwig-Moore, Mercer University School of Law

This course tracks South Africa’s political transition from the Apartheid Era to a modern democracy. Students will learn about the legal institutions structures supporting apartheid (including forced removals, travel restrictions, prohibition of interracial marriage) and suppression of resistance to race-based policies. They will also learn about the movements and pressures (internal and external) that led to the fall of apartheid. Finally, the course will explore the South Africa’s transition to the Government of National Unity and its current form of government, including the structures of the new parliamentary representative democratic republic and the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996.

Week 2
(July 16-19, 2018)

Health Law Issues and Human Rights in Africa (1 credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Florence Shu-Aquaye, Nova Southeastern University School of Law

This course will explore Health Law and Human Rights issues that make the African continent unique and will highlight, in particular, the dilemma and predicament of the African Women and the current strategies and interventions to address these. It will increase the understanding of the role and application of International Treaties dealing with the Human Rights in Africa, the Convention on the Elimination of Discrimination Against Women (CEDAW), the International Bill of Rights, local and regional laws like The Protocol to the African Charter on Human and Peoples’ Rights, as well as the role of WHO, UNAIDS and other international organizations. The course will highlight the relationship between certain socio cultural acceptances, practices and the African woman’s vulnerability to HIV/AIDS and other infectious diseases, like Ebola and Zika viruses, and the impact of societal and government policies that may exacerbate or institutionalize the marginalization of the African woman. The roles of custom and the law. The course will further explore the pros and cons of the health choices of the African woman in the light of their social and cultural environment and its implications for a better understanding of both the Western and African cultures.

Week 3
(July 23-26, 2018)

Nelson Mandela and International Human Rights (1 credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Ellen Podgor, Stetson University College of Law

This course will examine some of the legal international human rights related documents, looking at them through the lens of Nelson Mandela. Starting with the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, a document that has been stated to have given him inspiration during his incarceration, to the adoption and later ratification by South Africa of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR) and the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (ICESCR). Students will consider the substantive terms of these covenants as well as their procedural application. In studying these documents a focus will be on their role in the life of South African activist and former president Nelson Mandela.

Week 4
(July 30-August 2, 2018)

Climate Justice: U.S. and International Dimensions (1 credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Randall Abate, Florida A&M University College of Law

The regulation of climate change has taken center stage internationally and regionally as the world braces for increasingly more severe impacts from the carbon-intensive global economy. In recent years, adaptation to these impacts has become a primary focus of global efforts to ensure the health and safety of the most vulnerable communities of the world such as the urban and rural poor, low lying island nations, indigenous peoples, and future generations in the face of climate change impacts. Climate justice emerged as part of the global response to these impacts. Climate justice focuses on the disproportionate burden of climate change impacts on the poor and marginalized and seeks to secure a more equitable allocation of the burdens of these impacts at the local, national, and global levels through proactive regulatory initiatives and reactive judicial remedies that draw on international human rights and domestic environmental justice theories. This course addresses climate justice from U.S. and international law perspectives and considers legal responses to promote climate justice in several regions of the world. It also evaluates regulatory obstacles under international law, U.S. law, and foreign domestic law in seeking to promote climate justice on a global scale. Topics will include atmospheric trust litigation, climate change and indigenous peoples, climate refugees and international human rights law, efforts to incorporate climate justice principles into the international climate change treaty negotiations, engaging the private sector to promote climate justice, and climate justice case studies in Florida.

Study Abroad in Oxford, England

Stetson's study abroad program in Oxford, England is an intensive, two-week experience that teaches advocacy through practice, theory, and contemplation. Students will be exposed to the fundamental tenets of rhetoric, psychology, and storytelling. Local techniques and practices form an integral part of this course with multiple guest speakers from England, Scotland, and Ireland. These common law attorneys and judges will bring a different view point to the process — expanding the students understanding of the differences and similarities that stretch across legal systems.

July 22 – August 4, 2018

Comparative Advocacy, Mastering Trial Advocacy (3 credits)
Instructor: Charles Rose, Stetson

This intensive, two-week experience teaches advocacy through practice, theory, and contemplation. Students will be exposed to the fundamental tenets of rhetoric, psychology, and storytelling. Students will learn how to represent clients at trial through simulated exercises. Developed skills will include witness interview and preparation, opening statements, witness examination, and closings. Students will apply theoretical persuasion constructs to these skills increasing both their substantive knowledge and practical ability. Local techniques and practices form an integral part of this course with multiple guest speakers from England, Scotland and Ireland. These common law attorneys and judges will bring a different viewpoint to the process - expanding the students understanding of the differences and similarities that stretch across legal systems.

Attention Non-Stetson Students:

Non-Stetson students should be aware that it is unlikely that participation in a summer program may be used to result in an acceleration of their graduation date. Students interested in acceleration should consult their home school and the relevant rules of the American Bar Association, including Standard 304, Interpretation 304-4.

Study Abroad FAQ (PDF)

For more information, see Study Abroad FAQ (PDF) here. Cayman Islands Fall Intersession Program

The Cayman Islands program contains a choice of two one-week courses worth one credit each over the span of two weeks, for a program total of two credits. Enrolled students are generally required to participate in both weeks of the program. However, part time students, or full time students with documented special circumstances, are permitted to enroll in one week of the program. Each one credit hour course is separately graded.

Week 1 (December 27, 2018 – December 30, 2018)

EITHER

Transnational Maritime Practice: An Introduction (1 credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Jonathan Gutoff, Roger Williams University School of Law

This course will introduce students to some important aspects of maritime practice concerning transnational shipments. It will introduce some important aspects of US maritime law; the registration and classification of vessels in open registries, also known as flags of convenience; the role played by registration in choice of law; and foreign forum selection and arbitration clauses.

OR

Caribbean Countries and Global Financial Regulation (1 credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Danné Johnson, Oklahoma City University School of Law

Many view Caribbean countries as travel destinations for fun and leisure while others seek out these tropical destinations for financial benefit. The World Bank and the International Monetary Fund are engaged in assisting these small countries to strengthen their economies. This assistance includes direct funding, loans, education, and structural guidance in terms of regulation.

In the wake of the global financial crisis, there has been renewed interest in building fiscal institutions to ensure fiscal discipline in the United States and abroad. In connection with this movement, Caribbean countries will need to address their pace of economic growth and change, global and local risks, and limited financial resources. This course will introduce students to the role of the IMF in the financial stability and regulation of Caribbean countries. The topics of historic relaxed financial regulation as it relates to possible tax evasion and money laundering will be discussed. Current events related to the strengthening regulations will be a focus.

Week 2 (January 2-5, 2019)

EITHER

Comparative Trusts Law (1 credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Scott Atkins, Truman Bodden Law School
The Trust has been used to manage family wealth, and mitigate charges to tax, since the Middle Ages. Over the last century, the English trust has underpinned the development of the trust in other countries, both on- and offshore. Trusts have been developed in civil law countries (such as Italy and Switzerland) to which the concept of equitable ownership is alien. The American Uniform Trust Code has set down a model trusts law which has been built upon by nearly half of the American states.

This course will consider how the trust is established and used in English law compared to the American Uniform Trust Code as well as considering the differences in offshore trusts, with a particular reference to the STAR trust regime in the Cayman Islands.

OR

Comparative Adoption Law: England (including its Overseas Territory – The Cayman Islands) and the United States (1 credit)
INSTRUCTOR: Cynthia Hawkins, Stetson University College of Law

British law allows the so-called “forced adoption” of children – the non-consensual removal of children from their parents. Under current law, the risk of future harm to a child (even without evidence of current harm) can be the basis for removal. In addition, the law forbids direct contact between adopted children and their birth or foster families. Our discussion will begin with the 2018 study conducted by the British Association of Social Workers (The role of the social worker in adoption – ethics and human rights: An Enquiry (www.basw.co.uk/adoption-enquiry)).

Contrarily, in the United States, unless there has been a prior termination of parental rights, birth parents’ consent is required. In addition, the majority of US adoptions are so-called open adoptions. Under this approach, varying degrees of contact between the adoptive and birth families occur over time.

In this highly interactive mini-course, we will study interdisciplinary materials (including empirical studies), cases, statutes as well as law review articles.

LAW 3171. CLIMATE JUSTICE: U.S. AND INTERNATIONAL PERSPECTIVE. 1 to 2 Credit.
The regulation of climate change has taken center stage internationally and regionally as the world braces for increasingly more severe impacts from the carbon-intensive global economy. In recent years, adaptation to these impacts has become a primary focus of global efforts to ensure the health and safety of the most vulnerable communities of the world such as the urban and rural poor, low lying island nations, indigenous peoples, and future generations in the face of climate change impacts. Climate justice emerged as part of the global response to these impacts. Climate justice focuses on the disproportionate burden of climate change impacts on the poor and marginalized and seeks to secure a more equitable allocation of the burdens of these impacts at the local, national, and global levels through proactive regulatory initiatives and reactive judicial remedies that draw on international human rights and domestic environmental justice theories. This course addresses climate justice from U.S. and international law perspectives and considers legal responses to promote climate justice in several regions of the world. It also evaluates regulatory obstacles under international law, U.S. law, and foreign domestic law in seeking to promote climate justice on a global scale.

LAW 3190. COMMERCIAL TRANSACTIONS. 4 Credits.
This is a survey course covering the Uniform Commercial Code as a whole, as well as its relationship to other commercial law. This course will address key elements of Articles 1, 2, 3, 4, and 9, and may also address other materials as time permits. The course is intended to give students a broad exposure to commercial law, but in significantly less depth than individual courses in Sales, Leases & Licenses; Payment Systems; and Secured Transactions. This course may not be taken by a student who has taken ALL THREE of the following: LAW 3821; LAW 3768; and LAW 3832. This course satisfies the Code Requirement. (r).

But it will also attempt to better understand what constitutes "religion" as used both popularly and in the law, as well as to consider whether unstated evaluations of "religion," its truth, and its social consequences have shaped modern treatment of religion in law.
LAW 3674. LAW POLITICS AND STATE POWER: THE SUSTAINABILITY OF CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNANCE IN AFRICA. 1 Credit.
This course examines the relationship between Law and Politics in African Political Systems with regards to constitution-making and constitutional governance with special reference to Kenya. Right from Independence, constitutions have played a key role in the genesis and evolution of African Political Systems (Aristide Zolberg, Creating Political Order: The Party-states of West Africa (New York: Rand McNally and company 1967). Yet constitutional governance was the first to be a casualty of military coups de tat before the ink dried on the new constitutions (Ruth First) The Barrel Of A Gun: Political Power In Africa and The Coup D’etat (Oxford: Penguin, 1971); P. Anyang’ Nyong’o, “Soldier and Counter-Revolution in Liberia (ed) Popular Struggles for Democracy in Africa (London Zed Books, 1989)-Okoth-Ogendo argues that the existence of constitutions need not necessarily lead to constitutionalism; i.e a political culture in which constitutional values are respected and practiced, and constitutional institutions became the blocks with which governance is built (h.W.O. Okoth-Ogendo, "Constitutions without Constitutionalism: An African Political Paradox" in Douglas Greenberg et al, Constitutionalism and Democracy: Transitions In the Contemporary World. (New York; OUP, 1993).-Much more recently we have seen a post-independence flurry of constitution-making to rebuild otherwise fragile states in post-apartheid south Africa, former Portuguese colonies and the former settler plantations like Kenya, Zimbabwe and Cote D’Ivoire with varying degrees of success (see Anyang’ Nyong’o, “Electoral Democracy and election Coalitions in Former Settler Colonies in Africa: Is Democracy in Trail or in Reverse Gear in Kenya, Cote D’Ivoire and Zimbabwe? in E.N. Sahle, (ed.) Democracy Constitutionalism, and Politics in Africa, (forthcoming). These constitutions are essentially products of political compromise between pro-democracy social forces and the defenders of kleptocratic regimes controlling state power in the economic interests of narrow elites that derive their legitimacy from class, racial, regional, ethnic or religious groups changing “pacts of domination” or political alliances over time.-Raising disturbing and at times unanswerable questions, this course will seek to shed some light on the sustainability of constitutional governance in Africa given the continent's history and political economy. It will also provide the student with the opportunity to understand Law as the outcome of political and social struggles which very often shape the character of the state. Constitutionalism and democracy are not God-given. They evolve in historical contexts and, interestingly enough, also contribute to the making of history.

LAW 3675. LAW & SEXUAL ORIENTATION SEM. 2 to 3 Credits.
This course explores the rapidly expanding relationship between the law and sexual orientation, gender and nonconformity. It examines various legal principles that have been and might be used to limit the ability of government and other institutions to disadvantage people because of their sexual orientation. The course looks at issues such as equal protection, privacy, and due process, and explores how courts have used these doctrines in consideration of lesbians, gay men, bisexuals and transgender individuals in critical aspects of their lives, such as employment, housing, and family relationships. Thus, the course addresses issues that will likely arise in virtually all law practices. (meets writing requirement).

LAW 3684. LW THROUGH THE LENS/POETRY SEM. 3 Credits.
Using poetry as a lens through which to explore the law, this course is divided into six major units: Commerce, Poverty, Power, Existentialism, Ontology, and Revolt. Although there will be some discussion of private law during the Commerce unit, the balance of the course will be centered on themes of government and public law, including most notably themes of justice (both social and criminal) and power. There will also be some discussion, in the Ontology unit, of the rather extensive use of the law as a metaphor. (This course satisfies the upper level writing requirement).

Students will study the legal framework including, but not limited to the relevant Florida and federal court rules (including local rules); and the relevant rules on ethics and professional responsibility. The course will involve students in a variety of practical exercises. This course satisfies the Skills Requirement. (r).

LAW 3763. OCEAN & COASTAL LAW & POLICY. 3 Credits.
This course is designed to prepare students interested in practicing property law, environmental law or related legal fields. This course will explore public and private conflicts involving coastal development and conservation, federalism issues, tragedy of the common drivers for coastal development and resource exploitation, ecosystem service and carbon sequestration potential of coastal lands, management of natural resources (such as fisheries and biodiversity), international ocean law, and alternative energy options in the coastal zone.

LAW 3764. OVERVIEW OF FLORIDA LAW. 2 to 3 Credits.
This course is intended to help students prepare for the bar exam by (1) addressing subjects more frequently tested by “objective” questions on the bar exam (e.g. multiple-choice) and (2) providing students continual practice in answering questions on these subjects. There is no prerequisite for enrolling in this course. When possible, students should defer taking this course till their last semester.

LAW 3767. PATENT LAW. 2 to 3 Credits.
A general introduction to the theory and practice of patent law. No specialized scientific or technical knowledge is required. The class will survey the history, philosophy, economics, and technological evolution that shape current domestic statutory provisions, and relevant international treaties. The course will include some graded practical exercises.

LAW 3768. PAYMENT SYSTEMS. 3 Credits.
An examination of the law regarding systems for payment and treatment of money in commercial transactions. The course will address Articles 3 (negotiable financial instruments), 4 (bank deposits and collections), 4A (electronic funds transfers), and 5 (letters of credit). Students will also discuss federal statutes and regulations governing credit cards, debit cards, and other aspects of payments law, in addition to emerging forms of payment. This course satisfies the Code Requirement.

LAW 3771. POVERTY LAW. 2 to 3 Credits.
This course will begin with historical and theoretical perspectives on poverty, poor relief, and government benefits. It will then cover a variety of public benefits laws and regulations, such as Social Security, Welfare (TANF), Food Stamps, Unemployment, Housing and Medicaid/Medicare. These programs will be considered from both the perspective of administrative law and more broadly as anti-poverty measures. In addition, the course may address some non-administrative law issues related to poverty, such as legal assistance, private housing, consumer law, and constitutional issues. This course satisfies the Administrative Law Requirement.

LAW 3773. PRE-TRIAL PRACTICE. 4 Credits.
A survey of and active student participation in activities relating to the evaluation, preparation, and development of a civil case for trial. This course satisfies the Skills Requirement. Pre-requisite: LAW 1150 and LAW 2190. (r).
LAW 3775. PRODUCTS LIABILITY. 3 Credits.
This course focuses generally, but not exclusively, on generically dangerous products. The first portion of the course analyzes legal theories including negligence, warranty and strict liability with an emphasis on failure to warn and defective design. The second part of the course analyzes current legal issues including federal preemption of state product liability actions and punitive damages, practical matters relating to preparing and trying a products liability case, and procedural issues. (o).

LAW 3777. THE POWERS OF WAR AND PEACE: THE PRESIDENT, CONGRESS, AND THE COURTS SEMINAR. 2 or 3 Credits.
This seminar examines national security legal questions of war and peace, applying constitutional and statutory provisions and caselaw to real-life and notional scenarios involving the tensions between the Executive, Congress, and the courts. Students will lead the discussion, and in the final class, will assume the roles of legal counsel and Members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and counsel from the Office of the Legal Adviser, Department of State, addressing the war powers of Congress and the President in the context of two crisis situations. Pre-Requisite: Constitutional Law I.

LAW 3778. NATIVE AMERICAN TREATY LAW. 3 Credits.
Students in this course will study the treaty obligations and relationships between the federal government and specific groups of Native Americans. Sovereignty, rights to land and water, and socio-economic disparities will be viewed from the perspective of treaties, the “supreme law of the land,” according to the U.S. Constitution. Students will engage in critical analysis of the federal government’s performance under specific treaties, and the practical implications of that performance for modern citizens (Native or non-Native). This course is, broadly speaking, a domestic human rights course.

LAW 3788. RACE AND THE LAW SEMINAR. 2 to 3 Credits.
This seminar focuses on historical and current issues regarding race and American law. It offers students the opportunity to advance their research and writing skills; and it will provide students with an opportunity to discuss race related government policies, regulations and constitutional issues. (meets writing requirement).

LAW 3803. REAL PROPERTY LITIGATION. 2 to 3 Credits.
A survey of the more common conflicts that arise in a real property context. The focus in each area of litigation will be three-pronged: philosophical, fundamental principles and elements of each cause of action, and tactical “courtroom” skills. Topics will include both governmental challenges to private property (land use regulations, environmental and zoning restrictions, eminent domain) as well as private disputes (quieting title, slander of title, boundary disputes, ejectment, landlord-tenant conflicts, adverse possession and prescriptive easements, and foreclosure actions).

LAW 3810. REMEDIES. 3 Credits.
A general examination of traditional legal and equitable remedies in a variety of contexts, of declaratory relief, and of current remedies developments in the public law area. (r).

LAW 3817. RESEARCH ASSISTANCE FOR CREDIT. 1 or 2 Credit.
A student may earn either 1 or 2 hours of elective academic credit per semester by serving as a Research Assistant for a full-time College of Law faculty member, Distinguished Professorial Lecturer, or Law Professor Emeritus in connection with the faculty member’s research. A student who wishes to take this course must complete the Research Assistance for Credit Application Form, which must be signed by both the supervising faculty member and the Associate Dean for Academics. This course will be graded on the S/U scale. Duties: A Research Assistant will be expected to devote 42.5 hours per credit hour to the position. To earn academic credit, the student’s work must include significant components of both research and writing. The student’s written work may take a variety of formats, but should total at least 3,375 words; if the written work includes footnotes or endnotes, the word count should be exclusive of those notes. If the anticipated work will not include a substantial written component, the professor should consider hiring the student as a Research Assistant for pay, using the guidelines and policies for that position. The professor must retain the student’s written work for one full academic year. The student and the professor should establish a regular meeting schedule to review the student’s work and progress. As a guideline, the student and professor should meet in person at least every two weeks. The student must accurately track and record the hours worked each week and must submit those time records to the professor in a method and on a schedule agreed to in advance. Meetings with the professor count as hours worked. The supervising professor must maintain time records for one full academic year. Before the last day of final examinations for the semester, the Research Assistant must complete and file with the Registrar a Final Certification form regarding the course.

LAW 3821. SALES & LEASES. 3 Credits.
This course examines the law of commercial transfers of goods and other personal property rights under domestic and international law. It will address Articles 2 (sales) and 2A (leases) of the Uniform Commercial Code, the United Nations Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods, and the federal Magnuson-Moss Warranty Act. This course satisfies the Code Requirement. (r).

LAW 3825. SCIENTIFIC EVIDENCE WORKSHOP. 2 to 3 Credits.
This course explores the law regarding the admissibility of scientific evidence and the tactics and strategy involved in the use of expert witnesses at trial. Students will conduct pretrial interviews of expert witnesses, depose an expert witness, draft and argue a motion in limine, and conduct direct and cross examinations of expert witnesses in a trial setting. Pre-requisites: LAW 2190 and LAW 3920.

LAW 3832. SECURED TRANSACTIONS. 3 Credits.
An examination of the law of security interests in personal property, focusing primarily on Article 9 of the Uniform Commercial Code. Consideration is given to the creation, validity, priorities, and enforcement of security interests, and the relationship of Article 9 to bankruptcy law. This course satisfies the Code Requirement. (r).

LAW 3869. SHORT COURSE ON ELDER LAW. 1 Credit.
This one credit pass/fail course will review the ten most common areas of law in an elder law practice, providing an overview of Elder Law for those who do not plan to practice Elder Law, but who will likely have clients who are elderly. Students who have already completed the course Introduction to Aging and the Law may not enroll in the Short Course on Elder Law.
LAW 3871. SEP OF POWERS OUR CON SYS SEM. 2 Credits.
This seminar will examine the theoretical and historical foundations of our tripartite constitutional government, as well as the current “law” of the separation of powers under the Constitution. The latter will be explored by focusing on several of the more controversial and high-profile separation of powers issues to confront our federal government, including issues currently before the Court such as the scope of the President’s power to make recess appointments. See Noel Canning v. NLRB, 705 F.3d 490 (D.C. Cir. 2013), cert. granted, 570 U.S. ____ (June 24, 2013) (No. 12-1281). Pre-requisite: LAW 1195 (meets writing requirement).

LAW 3874. FLA CRCT CRT (APPELL) EXTRNSHP. 3 to 4 Credits.
Students are placed with three-judge appellate panels in the Sixth Judicial Circuit (Pasco and Pinellas Counties). Under the direction of a Circuit appellate judge, students draft memoranda and orders, conduct research, and may attend appellate panel meetings. Students will review and make recommendations on civil or criminal cases invoking the appellate jurisdiction of the Circuit Court, including: appeals from County Court, petitions to review administrative action, and all other petitions seeking extraordinary writs necessary to the complete exercise of the Circuit Court’s appellate jurisdiction. Priority in assignment of interns is given to the civil appellate panels. This externship also provides opportunities to view the types of court proceedings and administrative actions that are brought before the panels. The externship is open to second and third year students who have completed Research and Writing I and II; other students may be permitted on special request. This externship is valuable for anyone who is interested in doing appellate work upon graduation.

LAW 3875. SPORTS LAW. 2 to 3 Credits.
This course will survey the structure of the sports industries and examine the application of labor and employment law, as well as antitrust law to the relationships between the professional athlete, employers, and governing organizations. The course will also address other substantive areas of law implicated in sports overall such as education law, state and administrative regulatory oversight, collegiate compliance requirements, international concerns, intellectual property issues and entertainment law. (r).

LAW 3876. SOCIAL JUSTICE ADVOCACY & THE LW. 3 Credits.
This course is designed to inspire students to use their legal skills to promote individual and collective well-being, enhance human dignity and help balance the scales of both power and wealth. Through case studies of social justice lawyering students will become familiar with communities that are marginalized, subordinated, and underrepresented. The course will introduce students to equal justice lawyering, lawyering for social change, and “transformative” lawyering. Issues related to ethics, professional responsibility and strategies for effective lawyering in court and in the community will be examined.

LAW 3885. FLA DISTRICT CRT APPEAL EXTERN. 4 Credits.
Students are placed with the District Court of Appeal for the Second District, in Lakeland, Florida. LAW 4100. BANKRUPTCY CLINIC. 5 Credits.
We would offer it during the fall and spring semesters (not summer, given the challenge of developing these professional skills in a short time period). By offering it in both fall and spring, more students can participate, and matters not completed at the end of a semester can be picked up by a student in the following semester (in some cases, the pro bono attorney mentor will need to complete the case given the timing and student availability). It also allows students to coordinate the clinic semester based on timing of relevant courses and bar clearance.

LAW 4200. CHILD ADVOCACY CLINIC. 5 Credits.
This clinic will be based at the Office of the Public Defender at the 6th Circuit of Florida, which is the only office in the State of Florida that is funded for the Crossover Program. This program allows the office to represent children in dependency cases as well as in their delinquency cases. Our clinic would afford Stetson certified legal interns to appear in front of the judges to try cases, and also advocate for the children in their dependency matters. This opportunity would allow our students to understand the special dynamic of the attorney-client relationship where the client is a juvenile, and provide them with a holistic understanding of the juvenile justice system. Steve Nelson, Senior Assistant in the Public Defender's Juvenile Division is a Board Certified Criminal Trial Attorney will serve as the Adjunct and teach the classroom component in addition to supervising students. As with our clinics, students would receive five credits, and be required to dedicate 200 hours. This clinic satisfies the Skills and Experiential Education requirements. Prerequisites: LAW 2350; LAW 2190; LAW 3270; LAW 3290. LAW 3412 is preferred, but is not a required prerequisite.

LAW 4500. CIVIL LEGAL SERVICES CLINIC. 5 Credits.
Students are introduced to the actual practice of law, representing low income individuals primarily in the areas of domestic relations, child custody, landlord-tenant, consumer credit, collection matters and government entitlement matters. (r) This clinic satisfies the Skills and Experiential Education requirements. (r).

LAW 4520. CIVIL ELDER LAW CLINIC. 5 Credits.
The clinic student, under the Florida Integration Rule, will represent age 60 and older clients who meet income eligibility guidelines. The student will be responsible for all phases of client representation, including interview, investigation, drafting pleadings/documents, negotiations, administrative hearings and trials. This clinic satisfies the Skills and Experiential Education requirements. (r).

LAW 4535. IMMIGRATION LAW CLINIC. 5 Credits.
Students in this program are placed with the Immigration Unit of Gulfcoast Legal Services, a non-profit legal aid organization. The Immigration Unit assists persons who are immigrant victims of crime with a focus on domestic violence. Students perform duties associated with Violence Against Women Act self-petitions, U visas for victims of crime, and T visas for victims of human trafficking; representing persons in asylum, withholding of removal, and Convention Against Torture claims; as well as an unaccompanied immigrant children project for children present in the United States without legal status or under color of legitimate economic activity.

LAW 4548. LOCAL GOVERNMENT CLINIC. 5 Credits.

This clinic satisfies the Skills and Experiential Education Requirements. (r).

LAW 4550. PROSECUTION CLINIC. 5 Credits.
A clinic permitting students to participate actively in the investigation, preparation and trial of criminal cases in the State Attorney's Office. This clinic satisfies the Skills and Experiential Education Requirements. Prerequisites: LAW 2190, LAW 3920 and LAW 3270. (r).
LAW 4560. PUBLIC DEFENDER CLINIC. 3 to 5 Credits.
The Public Defender Clinic provides you with actual experience as a trial attorney representing indigent clients under the direct supervision of faculty and attorneys. The Clinic will prepare you to represent a client with the professionalism and competence that is expected from a Stetson graduate and a Florida attorney. The Adjunct Professors and supervising attorneys are assistant public defenders from the Office of the Public Defender for the 6th Judicial Circuit in Clearwater. The clinic includes classroom instruction and experiential learning, affording certified legal interns the opportunity to actively participate in the criminal justice system and perform the functions of an assistant public defender through all facets of the case, including meeting clients, performing investigations, engaging in discovery, performing pretrial motions practice, and conducting jury trials. This clinic satisfies the Skills and Experiential Education requirements. Prerequisites: LAW 2190, LAW 3920 and LAW 3270. (r).

LAW 4565. TAMPA PROSECUTION CLINIC. 5 Credits.
This clinic will be based at the Office of the State Attorney for the 13th Circuit of Florida. This clinic would afford Stetson certified legal interns the opportunity to actively participate in the criminal justice system and perform the functions of a prosecutor through all facets of prosecution, including filing charges, performing investigations, responding to discovery, and conducting jury and non-jury trials. Students will further develop core competencies in advocacy skills and substantive knowledge required to serve as assistant state attorneys through a combination of experiential learning and classroom instruction. An Assistant State Attorney, who currently supervises Stetson Prosecution Clinic students, will serve as the Adjunct and teach the classroom component in addition to supervising students. As with our other clinics, students would receive five credits, and be required to dedicate 200 hours. This clinic satisfies the Skills and Experiential Education requirements. Prerequisites: LAW 2350, LAW 2190, LAW 3270 and LAW 3920.

LAW 4570. VETERAN'S ADVOCACY CLINIC. 5 Credits.
This clinic will teach students how to serve the needs of veterans as they navigate the process of applying for disability benefits and appealing decisions by the Veterans Administration. Students will assist veterans as they file claims, appeal decisions at the local level, and in some cases provide assistance all the way up to the U.S. Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims in Washington, D.C. Specific tasks may include conducting intake interviews, selecting clients, conducting case and legal analysis, performing fact investigations, preparing claims, and drafting briefs. The clinic also includes a moot court exercise to simulate arguing before the U.S. Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims. This clinic satisfies the Skills and Experiential Education requirements. This course is open to students who have successfully completed all first-year courses and LAW 2350. The successful completion of LAW 3040 is preferred, but not required.

LAW 5921. THE CUBAN LEGAL SYSTEM/SOCIETY. 1 Credit.

LAW 6000. ADVANCED ADVOCACY I. 6 Credits.
Students explore methods of persuasion from a theoretical perspective and apply the lessons learned through performance-based exercises designed to expand the boundaries of their understanding and mastery of techniques. This course includes a strong emphasis on establishing and maintaining personal connections in order to facilitate effective communication, and includes visiting lectures by prominent national advocate.

LAW 6003. ADVANCED EVIDENCE. 2 Credits.
This course examines the challenges associated with laying proper foundations and presenting evidence such as forensics, electronic evidence, and expert witnesses. Attention is also paid to topics such as character evidence, impeachment, and the use of evidence beyond the case in chief.

LAW 6006. ADVANCED PRETRIAL ADVOCACY. 2 Credits.
Pretrial Practice in a Civil Case: Advanced Advocacy Techniques--This course provides an overview of motion procedures and examines the best practices for drafting and arguing motions at all stages of litigation. (previously titled: Motions Practice).

LAW 6009. CONDUCTING EFFECTIVE DISCOVERY. 2 Credits.
This course explores the topic of discovery from technical and strategic perspectives. The technical perspective includes instruction on how best to identify potential sources of evidence and frame discovery requests most effectively. The strategic perspective examines potential evidence through the prism of ultimate relevance, admissibility, and usefulness in order to inform the attorney’s technical decisions. E-discovery and depositions are important topics within this component.

LAW 6012. TEACHING ADVOCACY. 2 Credits.
Tapping directly into Stetson’s vast experience as the leader in advocacy education, this course examines the pedagogy of teaching advocacy and gives students the first-hand experience in applying these lessons through lab-based exercise that involve coaching actual law school students. Whether interesting in teaching advocacy as a formal educator or conducting training for fellow attorneys, this course is invaluable in helping students enhance their ability to teach advocacy.

LAW 6018. MASTERING VOIR DIRE. 2 Credits.
This course teaches students to analyze evidence for its persuasive impact on different personality types, construct questionnaires to identify those most and least likely to be persuaded, and conduct effective voir dire to seat the most sympathetic jury possible. This course also employs state-of-the-art opinion feedback technology and instructs students on how to use it effectively.

LAW 6100. ADVOCACY PROJECT. 1 Credit.
Under the direction of an adviser, each student will produce an advocacy-related research paper or project. Advocacy-related projects might include the development of training materials for professional settings or pedagogical materials for academic environments. All projects must be research-driven and include a demonstrative component.
This course focuses on developing an understanding of professional development programs within the firm environment; creating in house programs, including mentoring, management, and professional development; and understanding how to properly identify and develop best practice law management procedures for the 21st century law office. This course includes a strong emphasis on the internal persuasion considerations required to properly position an individual attorney within the firm environment from a professional development perspective, as well as a systemic understanding of how professional development and best business practices impact the viability of the practice of law.

LAW 6106. TECHNOLOGY ENHANCED ADVOCACY. 2 Credits.
This course exposes students to the latest in courtroom technology and demonstrates how technology is best employed as a tool to enhance storytelling, rather than as a substitute for it. Students not only learn how about various courtroom technologies, but are also required to demonstrate their mastery of technology-assisted advocacy.

LAW 6109. COMPLEX COUNSELING&NEGOTIATION. 2 Credits.
This course seeks to teach students the skills they need to recognize hidden factors that can influence their persuasiveness when counseling clients or negotiating with others and to balance the individual needs of competing parties. In addition to lecture-based instruction, this course makes extensive use of role-playing and practical exercises.

This course examines the various forms of economic and noneconomic damages, explores the most effective means of recovery, and develops the advocacy skills best employed when seeking to maximize or mitigate damages.

LAW 6200. CAPSTONE PRACTICUM. 1 Credit.
This practicum is conducted during the final semester of the two-year LL.M. program. Students test their advocacy skills during each stage of litigation, including client counseling, discovery, and pretrial negotiations, with voir dire and mock trial exercises performed on campus.

LAW 6201. ADVOCACY PROJECT. 1 Credit.
Under the direction of an adviser, each student will produce an advocacy-related research paper or project. Advocacy-related projects might include the development of training materials for professional settings or pedagogical materials for academic environments. All projects must be research-driven and include a demonstrative component.

LAW 7017. COMP CHOICE LW RULES IN TORT. 1 Credit.
The course will examine the rules used in the choice of law process to assign the governing law to a tort which possesses foreign elements. It will open with a consideration of the rules as developed by the English common law (the "double actionability" rule) as applied in the Cayman Islands and will then compare and contrast those rules with the rules developed and applied in the EU by EU member states pursuant to the provisions of the Rome II Regulation (Regulation (EC) No 264/2007). The course will approach the examination of each set of rules from the perspective of forming a view as to whether the common law or EU rules better meet the objective of producing certainty in this interesting and intriguing area of law.

LAW 7020. HUMAN SEX TRAFFICKING: PSYCHOLOGY AND THE LAW. 1 Credit.
Human Sex Trafficking, an invisible challenge to human rights across the globe, is a robust and growing business, only less profitable than the drug trade. The purpose of this course is to provide the student with a comprehensive understanding of human sex trafficking. In this intercession course, we will focus on Human Sex Trafficking and related federal and international responses to what is now commonly referred to as modern day slavery. The class will begin with an inquiry into the question of what trafficking is—a question that, despite the existence of legal definitions of trafficking, remains highly contested. We will also explore who the traditional trafficking victim is; you will learn about the physical, emotional, psychological and spiritual trauma experienced by the victims of human trafficking and the methods used to recruit and control them. Human trafficking in the Caribbean will be discussed, with a focus on the six CARICOM countries who have been singled out as having a severe human trafficking problem. We will discuss the reasons why human trafficking is so pervasive in these countries in particular, as well as the laws, both American and International, which have been implemented to combat Human Trafficking in this region. Of note is the Trafficking Victims Protection Act (TVPA). We will discuss the TVPA as well as other current statutes that combat sex trafficking in the Caribbean. Finally, we will explore the challenges faced in prosecuting these cases, as well as solutions provided by the current legal framework in place. Class instruction will blend in-class discussion and analysis with the use of film clips, social media and other source materials to enhance your understanding of this topic.

LAW 7021. COMPARATIVE TITLE ASSURANCE ISSUES IN REAL PROPERTY TRANSFERS. 1 Credit.
This course reviews the differences between the US recording act systems and the varied methods of recording property transfers in the Caribbean or lack thereof. The course looks at private title insurance as a way to offset the inadequacies of public records in the US, the lack of comparable private entities in the Caribbean and the impact of such a void in assuring that individuals have stable claims to private property.
LAW 7022. HUMAN RIGHTS IN THE CARIBBEAN. 1 Credit.
The issue of human rights in the Caribbean has, in recent years, been focused on the question of LGBTI rights. Most Caribbean jurisdictions have little to no protection for such rights, and, in particular, the much-vaunted question of same-sex marriage has been largely ignored in this region. However, it is important to remember that human rights constitute a much broader range of rights than simply the highly publicized LGBTI rights. This course will therefore consider human rights in the Caribbean in such areas as gender equality rights, the rights of workers, the right to a fair trial, and the question of capital punishment. Consideration of these issues will be made within a comparative context of domestic protections which are offered in some of the key Caribbean jurisdictions, such as the Cayman Islands, Jamaica, Trinidad and Barbados. The legislative and common law protections will be considered, as well as the constitutional protections which are espoused throughout these states. It should also be noted that numerous Caribbean jurisdictions, such as the Cayman Islands, Turks and Caicos, Aruba and the Netherlands Antilles are all subject to the greater administrative control of European states which are, in turn, subject to the European Convention on Human Rights. Finally, the domestic protections will be considered within the context of the wider international legal provisions, such as the International Convention on Civil and Political Rights, the Convention on the Elimination of all Forms of Discrimination Against Women, and the Convention on Rights of the Child. Assessment will be made of whether, and if so, to what extent, Caribbean jurisdictions are in accord with the legal obligations imposed on the wider international community.

LAW 7023. U.S. CORPORATIONS, TAX EVASION, AND THE CAYMAN ISLANDS. 1 Credit.
The Cayman Islands is one of the most well-known tax havens in the world (along with countries such as Switzerland, the British Virgin Islands, Bermuda, and others). Unlike most countries and even some other tax havens, the Cayman Islands does not require corporate taxes, making it an ideal place for multinational corporations to base subsidiary entities to shield some or all of their incomes from U.S. taxation. This course will explore what tax havens are, how they work, why the Cayman Islands’ tax laws permit U.S. tax evasion, and what the U.S. and the Cayman Islands’ governments are doing to combat the problem.

LAW 7024. COMPARATIVE CHOICE OF LAW IN CONTRACT RULES: THE COMMON LAW v. EU RULES. 1 Credit.
The course will open with a consideration of the choice of law rules in commercial contracts developed by English common law (still applicable in the Cayman Islands and numerous other common law jurisdictions). It will be explained that such rules are designed to allocate a governing law to contracts possessing foreign elements and why the choice of law process is crucial in determining the outcome of commercial litigation. The course will then move on to consider the parallel choice of law rules which apply to EU member states (including, presently, the UK). These rules are set out in the Rome II Regulation and (like earlier domestic English legislation) abrogate entirely the common law rules in the UK’s case. The course will compare the underlying philosophies of the two sets of rules and consider why it was felt necessary to jettison the common law rules. Some consideration will also be given to what effect, if any, Brexit is likely to have on the continuing application in the UK’s case of the Rome II Regulation.

LAW 7026. COMPARATIVE COPYRIGHT LAW IN A DIGITAL WORLD. 1 Credit.
In the age of the Internet, copyright law has become fraught with legal and global disagreements. The tension between public access to these works and protecting the rights of copyright holders has resulted in diverse legal and policy responses in an ever-changing digital landscape. The U.S. Constitution explicitly protects and encourages the development of creative works. Once a piracy nation, the U.S. has become a vocal proponent of the development and aggressive enforcement of stringent protections for copyright owners as a way to protect its economic interests in a borderless Internet. There is additional pressure on countries under the Trade-Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights agreement (TRIPS), part of World Trade Organization (WTO) regimen, to accede to an international approach to the protection of copyright and other forms of intellectual property (IP). The response from Caribbean nations has been mixed to these trade and legal pressures. Some countries have been reluctant to adopt new or revised copyright laws in a way that may impede the free exchange of ideas and interfere with regional and local social policies and economic interests. Caricom policymakers have been hesitant to establish IP standards across the planned Caricom Single Market and Economy (CSME). In addition, Caribbean nations may take a broader view of the protection of moral rights as opposed to the more limited U.S. view on moral rights. This course will explore the opportunities and challenges of Caribbean and U.S. copyright policies and consider issues of moral rights, infringement and fair use in our digital age.

LAW 7027. INTERNATIONAL COMMERCIAL LAW. 1 Credit.
This course provides intensive exposure to the law governing international sales transactions, the CISG, as well as an introduction to international commercial arbitration. The CISG governs the substantive law that applies by default to transnational sales of goods when the parties involved are from any of the 85 signatory nations, including some Caribbean nations (Dominican Republic, Saint Vincent and the Grenadines). This class is essential for anyone hoping to become involved with international trade. This class would be somewhat redundant for anyone who has taken International Sales & Arbitration at Stetson.

LAW 8000. AGING AND THE LAW. 3 Credits.
This course examines various issues in elder law, including the psychology and physiology of aging. Topics include autonomy, surrogate decision-making, elder abuse, ethics, aging in place, and planning for long-term care, ageism, discrimination, the criminal justice system, and interdisciplinary approaches to client representation.

LAW 8020. DISABILITY LAW-LLM ELDER LW. 3 Credits.
This course will cover the foundations of Special Needs and Disability Law: the issues, laws and regulations concerning individuals with disabilities, including access, employment, education, services and benefits, civil rights, discrimination, Social Security Disability, and the hearings and appeals process. (Note: Long-Term Care Planning is required, but with approval of the Director of the LL.M. in Elder law, Disability Law may be substituted.)

LAW 8025. ESTATE & GIFT TX PLAN/ELD CLIENT. 3 Credits.
This course examines the federal transfer tax system, and its effects on various estate planning arrangements, including joint tenancies, reserved life estates, durable powers of attorney, various types of trusts (including special needs trusts) and contractual arrangements for the transfer of wealth. Although the course will examine the basic planning and gifting concepts used for estates of all sizes, the focus will be on the gift and estate planning and tax provisions for the typical elder law client.
LAW 8030. ETHICS IN THE PRACT OF ELDR LW. 3 Credits.
This course reviews the ethical issues frequently presented to an attorney representing people who are older or disabled through an examination of the Model Rules and comments, Restatements, and other authorities. Issues covered include "who is the client?", loyalty, confidentiality, conflicts of interest, clients with diminished capacity, former clients, prospective clients, joint representation, and the lawyer's role as counselor.

LAW 8035. GUARDIANSHIPS & ALTERNATIVES. 3 Credits.
This course examines the causes of incapacity, behaviors of those with dementia, aphasia, etc., alternatives to guardianship for property and health care decisions (durable power of attorney, property management tactics as alternatives, advance directives), capacity assessments, the process of declaring a person incapacitated, selection and appointment of a guardian, administration, closing of a guardianship, and mediation.

LAW 8040. GOVT & PRIVATE HEALTH BENEFITS. 3 Credits.
This course examines the various benefits plans provided by private and governmental health plans, including Medicare and Medicaid programs, managed care plans, regulation and access, policy issues and recent developments.

LAW 8047. REPRESENTING CLIENTS WHO ARE ELDERLY OR HAVE SPECIAL NEEDS. 3 Credits.
This course examines the substantive law and strategies in representing people who are elderly or who have special needs including Medicaid, Guardianship litigation, Probate litigation, SSD Appeals. A number of nationally known experts in subject matter areas are guest lectures. The course has a skills exercise and an exam.

LAW 8048. INTRODUCTION TO ELDER LAW. 3 Credits.
This course is for those LLM students who have limited or no experience in Elder Law and is a condition of admission. This introductory course is a survey of all of the unique areas of elder law. The emphasis is on introducing the student to the issues and vocabulary of elder law. Subjects include Guardianship, Government Benefits; Estate Planning and Ethics. Exam, 3 credits.

LAW 8050. LONG TERM CARE PLANNING. 3 Credits.
This course examines the issues concerning long term care, including planning for long-term care, services, paying for care, including long-term care insurance, provisions of services including in-home and institutional care and the policies concerning long term care.

LAW 8055. RETIREMENT PLANNING. 3 Credits.
This course examines institutional forms of retirement planning, including family and community support, employer-sponsored pension plans, and personal savings in the form of tangible and intangible assets. The course also looks at the federal income tax consequences of pension plan distributions, spousal rights and benefits under employer-sponsored pension plans, employer and third-party service provider fiduciary duties and fiduciary liability issues, and estate planning strategies related to retirement savings.

LAW 8070. SELECT TOPICS IN ELDER LAW. 1 Credit.
This three-day in person course is in conjunction with the Annual Special Needs Trust conference. Students attend two days of the conference and a third day on campus, covering issues that are currently being discussed and debated in the elder law profession as a whole. Exam; 1 credit.

LAW 8090. VETERANS BENEFITS-LLM ELDER LW. 3 Credits.
This course examines the issues that arise for veterans regarding the application, grant, and denial of benefits within the Department of Veterans Affairs. The course will cover the various programs and benefits available, eligibility for programs and services, and the hearings and appeals process.

LAW 9096. COMP CIVIL LITIGATION:US vs UK. 2 Credits.
This course is intended to complement the Comparative U.K.-U.S. Legal Systems course and is designed to introduce students to the practical differences and similarities between the American and English trial systems. The focus will be on how trials are conducted and how to try a case effectively in both jurisdictions. Students can expect to learn and practice trial skills, including direct and cross examination, opening and closing arguments. The class will also attend court sessions for observation and subsequent group discussion. By the end of the semester, students will understand how trials are conducted in the courts of the United States in comparison to trials in England and Wales, and will possess universal skills in the area of trial advocacy that could be applied in either jurisdiction. This class does not meet the Stetson skills requirement.

This course is designed to introduce students to the civil litigation process in the UK whilst comparing it to US civil litigation. We will compare the civil procedure rules in the US and UK by applying the rules to two mock cases. The class will be divided into US and UK litigators and each session will be a practical exercise in conducting litigation in each country, thereby allowing the students to understand the similarities and differences in both jurisdictions as well as to learn practical skills such as writing demand letters, taking depositions, drafting witness statements and negotiating settlements.

LAW 9115. COMPARATIVE EMPLOYMENT LAW. 1 Credit.
This course will support students through the internship experience by giving them an opportunity to discuss the issues encountered during their internships while also providing them with a legal framework to understand and compare the differences in employment law in the United States and United Kingdom. We will also consider the language and cultural challenges faced when working abroad. We will begin with a crash course in the language and cultural differences between the US and UK, particularly focusing on how likely it is to encounter those differences in the workplace so as to develop an appreciation of the contrast and prepare for the internships. The goal is to support students through the internship experience while providing a legal background on employment law in the US and UK. This course will be required for students participating in the internship.
In this course you will study how the legal profession is regulated in the United States as compared to how it is regulated in England and Wales. In particular, we will contrast the reforms that England and Wales instituted with the Legal Services Act in 2007 to promote access to legal services with the analogous, but fragmented, efforts to accomplish the same goal in the various states in the U.S. We will also examine the effects of technology and globalization on the provision of legal services and contrast the likelihood that the two different regulatory systems will be able to adapt to these fundamental forces of change.

LAW 9212. ETHICS IN SPORTS MANAGEMENT AND GOVERNANCE. 1 Credit.
This course concentrates on a range of ethical issues that face the sports industry professional in the twenty first century across the UK and USA. Ongoing crises in international and national sport, ranging from doping and match-fixing to alleged corruption in governing bodies, mean that no sports manager can ignore the issue of ethics. By exploring these issues in a critical academic way, informed by historical and contemporary perspectives, our students will develop a clear sense of the challenges facing contemporary sport and an agenda for maintaining excellence and reforming problematic areas. The course will begin with a consideration of what sport is, and what it means in different cultural settings, along with an introduction to the philosophical and practical considerations underpinning ethics. It will then examine the legal and organizational frameworks for sport, before exploring a range of thematic case studies of problematic areas in sport, such as doping, violence, discrimination, child protection, academic sport issues, the environment, and human rights. The whole module will be based around such questions as: How and why have regulations around sport developed? Who controls them and in whose interests? How does management and governance in sport relate to models in other business, entertainment, and cultural sectors? How do national, international, and transnational systems inter-relate? Why have crises happened and what has sport learned from them? How do national and international legal systems inter-relate with sports governance?

LAW 9213. EU AND UN HUMAN RIGHTS. 2 Credits.
Course will place particular emphasis on their effect on the UK and EU constitutional and administrative systems. Content will cover the following stages: A brief summary of the background to the creation of the UN Declaration of Human Rights 1948 and the European Convention on Human Rights 1950, with particular emphasis on the role of UK lawyers in drafting some of the key provisions in these documents. An explanation and review of some of the key provisions of the Declaration and Convention. An explanation and review of the key constitutional and administrative institutions which implement the Declaration and Convention. The impact of the Declaration and Convention on the constitutional and administrative systems of the contacting states, with particular emphasis on: (a) the UK and the impact of the Human Rights Act 1998; and (b) the EU and the impact of the EU concept of fundamental rights. This will include a review of some of the most famous and controversial cases that have emerged in the UK in recent years. The subject matter of these cases is as variable and interesting as the issue of human rights itself. Examples include: (i) environmental abuses and protection, (ii) terrorism and security, (iii) the fairness of criminal trials, penalties and extradition laws, (iv) the right to provide and receive free legal services, (v) the financial rights of shareholders and others that contribute to the operational activities of companies, and (v) the competence of some of the most powerful regulators/investigators in the UK/EU (eg the EU Commission, the Office of Fair Trading, the Financial Conduct Authority, the Department of Business Innovation and Skills, the Crown Prosecution Service and many others). The impact of the Declaration and Convention on other international agreements (eg the World Trade Organisation). Finally, the course will look at the future of the Declaration and the Convention, in particular proposed reforms to the Declaration and the Convention, together with the institutions that underpin them.

LAW 9235. FREEDOM OF RELIGION: AN ANGLO-AMERICAN PERSPECTIVE. 3 Credits.
This course examines the First Amendment's religion clauses by, first, tracing the evolution of church-state relations and religious freedom in Great Britain and the United States. The large majority of colonists in 17th- and 18th-century America emigrated from the British Isles, and their views of religious freedom were shaped by their and their ancestors' experience in the mother countries. To understand the protections for religious freedom enshrined in the First Amendment, we must understand something about, for example, the spread of the Protestant Reformation to England and the ceaseless struggles between Protestant England and Catholic Spain and France that carried over to colonial America. In addition to examining the historical context for the First Amendment's religion clauses, we will also consider how laws governing religious freedom in the United States and Western Europe have diverged. We consider, for example, how European nations have rejected a "strict separation" of church and state, and how that choice may have contributed to the decline of religious observance in those nations. And we consider the how current disputes about religious freedom in the United States and Western Europe differ based on the distinct demographics and religious affiliations of their citizens. Because many historical sites in Great Britain are the setting for events that affected church-state relations—Hampton Court, Canterbury Cathedral, Plymouth—we will provide the opportunity to visit some of these sites during students' stay in London.

LAW 9460. JUDICIAL REVIEW. 2 Credits.
Judicial Review is one of the most popular legal actions in the UK. It is a special legal procedure which allows people or organizations to challenge acts or omission by bodies that are required to provide public services. Examples of the types of bodies that can be subjected to such action are government departments, local authorities, the Police, the armed forces, universities and bodies which regulate the conduct of companies and/or the provision of transport and utility services. Examples of the grounds on which JR claims can be made include human rights, illegality, irrationality and procedural irregularity. As a result, JR actions have touched on some of the most controversial areas in UK law and life including immigration, policing, the fight against terrorism and the right to take your own life, to name but a few.

LAW 9500. THE MASI, THE MAU MAU AND GUANTANAMO BAY: A STUDY OF GROUND-BREAKING INTERNATIONAL LITIGATION. 1 Credit.
This course offers an exploration of ground-breaking international cases against governments and multinational companies. In each case, we will study a different case, which will provide a unique opportunity to consider how these innovative and revolutionary international cases have not only protected the rights of individuals against corporate and governmental harm but have also been used to obtain redress for powerless victims.
LAW 9510. MISCARRIAGES OF JUSTICE. 1 Credit.
This course will provide an overview of several landmark miscarriage of justice cases in England and Wales and the changes in the law that followed as a result. Studying the ways in which the criminal justice system has failed in the past can prevent future failures. This course will also compare how similar cases would be handled in the United States. The appellate process for both jurisdictions will also be considered and discussed.

LAW 9600. SCIENTIFIC EVIDENCE AND EXPERT TESTIMONY: A US AND UK COMPARISON. 1 Credit.
While science and technology are not necessarily different across borders, the way such evidence is used and presented in court may be quite different. This course will compare the admissibility of scientific evidence, the qualification of expert witnesses and the presentation of expert testimony in the United Kingdom and the United States. During the course we will meet with members of the forensic and legal medicine community and have hands-on demonstrations of forensic examinations. We will meet with a member of the judiciary and will observe expert testimony in court or a coroner’s inquest, if available. We will also discuss future trends in forensic science research and expert testimony arising from the work of the National Commission on Forensic Science and the NIST Organization of Scientific Area Committees in the U.S. and The Royal Society’s “The Paradigm Shift for U.K Forensic Science” meetings in the U.K. with representatives from the newly established Leverhulme Centre for Forensic Science at the University of Dundee.

LAW 55009. WEALTH INEQUALITY AND LAW. 1 Credit.
The course would explore how the global economic crisis arose and how it led to increasing wealth inequality. The course would include an introduction to what central banks do and their role in the crisis. It would also discuss how central bank policies in response to the crisis have caused increasing wealth inequality. The course would then lead to discussions on what role law may play in addressing this issue. The two articles directly address these issues, and would be the required reading (along with a few short hand-outs).

LAW 55010. INNOVATION AND ECONOMIC CRISIS. 1 Credit.
The course will analyze the different ways in which society and technology - technological, legal and political - has served to worsen or alleviate this most recent global economic crisis. In which ways have some policies mirrored approaches taken in the past, and in which ways have they differed? What influence have new technologies had on law and policy, as they relate to socioeconomic issues such as network neutrality and antitrust law, copyright and patent law, income inequality, equal rights and free speech. We will also look at the differing attempts to manage the crisis in different parts of the world, such as Greece or China, and how some jurisdictions have leveraged new technologies to innovate in the realm of policy, such as Iceland's new constitutional project and its outcome.

LAW 55011. THE GLOBAL ECONOMIC CRISIS: A TEST FOR DEMOCRACY IN THE EU. 1 Credit.
The European Union’s response to the global economic crisis offers a focused lens through which to view the issue of democracy in EU law (an issue the recent Brexit vote raised as well). Specifically, the measures the EU government in Brussels proposed and/or took to ameliorate the effects of the crisis have raised questions about the degree of democratic representation in the EU, and about how to structure democratic governance at the meta-state level. In the wake of the crisis, several EU-wide measures – the Treaty on the European Stability Mechanism, the Fiscal Compact, the guarantees for Greece and the European Stabilization Facility - sparked challenges by individual member states as violating limits on the precedence of EU law over national constitutions and as violating the states’ democratic guarantees, such as the requirement that national governments approve loans to other countries. These fiscal and monetary measures raise important questions about the very concept of the EU, such as: How can an integrated body of states with a single government simultaneously guarantee democracy in its member states and also govern? To what degree should EU law take precedence over national law, if at all? Should monetary policy be subject to democratic limitations or be exempt? The course begins by asking what democracy means in the context of the EU: democracy is generally thought of as a characteristic of states and not of international entities, like the EU. What measures have EU Treaties and member states taken to preserve democratic principles, both within individual countries and at the Union level? We will look at some theories of democracy and apply them to the EU government to try to answer these questions. We will then read and analyze cases challenging the EU’s fiscal policies on democratic governance grounds, in particular cases from the German Supreme Court, which has the most developed jurisprudence on the issues. Finally, students will “negotiate” a treaty of union addressing the issue of democratic guarantees in an international entity consisting of individual states, incorporating the law we have studied in the course.

LAW 55012. PRIVACY, DATA, AND ECONOMICS. 1 Credit.
The course offers comparative observations of the evolving conceptions of privacy in the 21st century through the prism of changing laws and regulations. The course will be conducted as an active learning seminar, where students will have several deliverables to complete during the course as well as a final summative assessment. The course first describes various types of privacy laws in the United States and Europe, including the 4th Amendment to the Constitution, Europe’s “Right to Be Forgotten,” the EU Data Protection Directives, and other legislative enactments. The class then reviews some of the more significant advances in technology, such as drones, self-driving cars, and biometric surveillance systems, before focusing on the different aspects of data that can be regulated, such as transparency, confidentiality, portability and security. Then, the course dives deeper into the applicable laws and rules before turning to the impact of these legislative and judicial pronouncements on the global economy and security. This course will be a useful course from many perspectives. It offers a deeper understanding of the crosscurrents underlying the evolving law on privacy and the advances in technology that impact the current laws and rules. It also provides the opportunity to explore the different views of the United States, Europe and elsewhere on privacy matters, as well as the large economic impact these regulations will have on the Internet economy.
LAW 55013. FOUNDATIONS OF NATIONALISM, GLOBALISM, AND HUMAN RIGHTS. 1 Credit.
This course will explore the historical evolution of modern human rights law and the role of that history and theory in current human rights law and global institutions. We will also note how pluralism, globalism, and universal human rights can be in conflict with nationalism and the modern nation state. We will explore how the categories of “humanity” and “rights” arose in classical thought, and we will trace that development through the Protestant Reformation, the Enlightenment, and the American and French Revolutions. We will then examine how a commitment to universal human rights, globalism, and pluralism became widespread since 1945, and we will study the development of international treaties and covenants and the global and multi-national institutions designed to enforce those rights. Nonetheless, nationalism and ethnic separatism remain strong forces, and over the past few years those forces seem to be on the rise in Europe and North America. We will use the history of Granada and Spain as a case study for these developments. Medieval Spain had a relative degree of tolerance and pluralism among Muslims, Jews, and Christians, but that pluralism disappeared after 1492. From the 16th through the mid-20th century Spain resisted the modern trend toward human rights. After 1978, however, Spain has embraced human rights, pluralism, and democracy. At the same time, however, Spain is home to several ethnic separatist movements, including in the Basque region and in Catalonia. Finally, we will return to the relationship of Christians, Muslims, and Jews, this time in the 21st Century. We will examine terrorism, the refugee crisis, and the impact of these on human rights and pluralism.

LAW 55014. POLITICAL MOVEMENTS IN TAX. 1 Credit.
Globally, especially considering release of the Panama Papers, international tax enforcement by tax authorities continues to increase to stop tax havens, money laundering, and tax evasion. Some methods of enforcement include public shaming, increased reporting requirements, information exchange programs, public awareness campaigns, and heightened penalties. This course will explore the various methods of international tax enforcement by the Internal Revenue Service and other international tax authorities, including the IRS Criminal Investigation Division's new international tax enforcement group, the United States Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act, and the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development's (OECD) Common Reporting Standard. Additionally, this course will explore the Agencia Estatal de Administracion Tributaria's (AEAT), the revenue service for Spain, enforcement methods, including examining AEAT's recent public shaming of legendary soccer stars Lionel Messi and Cristiano Ronaldo. No prior tax knowledge is required.

LAW 55015. THE INTERNET, THE LAW, AND POPULIST UPRISINGS. 1 Credit.
The internet and social media have fueled many populist uprisings in the last decade even though the governments of many countries have exerted control over these vehicles of communication. Despite the vast bans on access of websites by Eastern European and Middle-Eastern countries, the taxations schemes placed on users of the internet employed by many Western European countries, and the heavy surveillance of the internet conducted by the United States, internet communications have been credited with spawning the Arab Spring, the US Occupy Movement, Spain’s 15M movement, and Iceland’s Kitchenware Revolution. This proposed course would focus on the various legal avenues governments have used to attempt to curtail internet communications to prevent populist uprisings by focusing on case studies of uprisings in specific countries and the legal recourses citizens of these countries have used to fight these government interventions.

LAW 55016. SOCIAL MOVEMENTS AND THE LAW AND TECHNOLOGY OF FREE SPEECH AND GOVERNMENT SURVEILLANCE. 1 Credit.
The rise of computer and Internet technology is changing both the way that political movements organize collective action and express dissent. It is also changing the way that government actors mobilize their own supporters to achieve political goals, and conduct surveillance on those they deem dangerous. Protestors increasingly use Smartphone- or computer- applications to organize protests, and use platforms such as YouTube to post videos of perceived government misdeeds. As is evident from many public officials’ and candidates’ recent use of Twitter, governments also use social media to shape public opinion and to mobilize their own supporters. And apart from using technology to disseminate their own messages, public officials also use technology to monitor – and, at times, thwart – communications by those they deem dangerous. They might intercept (and where, necessary, take steps to decrypt) e-mail messages or other Internet communications, use spyware, or use high-tech video surveillance or location tracking to gather information about individuals’ public movements. In some countries and contexts, such surveillance methods may be aimed by law enforcement primarily at those planning terrorism or other crimes that threaten lives or property. In others, officials may use them to counter ideologies they see as a threat. This course will explore how legal frameworks – primarily those rooted in constitutional or statutory law – shape political movements’ use of communications technology, and government responses to such communications (or emulation of it to mobilize their own supporters). It will focus on (1) the extent to which political movements use of Internet or other modern communication technology is protected by First Amendment freedom of speech and association in U.S. law and (2) whether and when government surveillance of such communications is limited by Fourth Amendment protections against “unreasonable government searches” by government limits, or by statutory limits on government surveillance (such as those in the Electronic Communications Privacy Act and the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act). Although it will use United States law as the starting point for analysis, the course will also look at decisions by the European Court of Human Rights that apply free speech and privacy protections to emerging technologies.

LAW 56001. COMPARATIVE TRIAL ADVOCACY. 3 Credits.
This intensive, two-week experience teaches advocacy through practice, theory, and contemplation. Students will be exposed to the fundamental tenets of rhetoric, psychology, and storytelling. Students will learn how to represent clients at trial through simulated exercises. Developed skills will include witness interview and preparation, opening statements, witness examination, and closings. Students will apply theoretical persuasion constructs to these skills increasing both their substantive knowledge and practical ability. Local techniques and practices form an integral part of this course with multiple guest speakers from England, Scotland and Ireland. These common law attorneys and judges will bring a different view point to the process - expanding the students understanding of the differences and similarities that stretch across legal systems.
LAW 57008. ELDER LAW - GLOBAL AGING. 1 Credit.
Almost 10,000 people in the US are turning 65 every day. This aging of the population is not unique to the US, however. Many countries are facing myriad issues regarding aging populations at all levels of government and society including the use of courts to handle the issues. Some countries have started to look at aging as a human right. The UN is looking at a draft convention now, following up the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities. The Organization of American States is also considering action regarding the human rights of older persons. This course will cover these developments as well as look at how countries have addressed the issues of aging. This course will look at the issues from both a systemic and practical perspective, including a skills component to teach the students some of the skills necessary to advocate for their elderly clients.

LAW 57011. US POLICING AND INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS TRIBUNALS. 1 Credit.
In May 2015, a $5.5 million reparations fund was established for victims of torture by the Chicago Police Department. This was the first fund of this kind in the United States. This course will focus on how community organizations placed pressure on the local and state governments to create the Illinois Torture Inquiry and Relief Commission by using human rights documents and participating in hearings held by the UN Committee Against Torture (CAT) and the UN Committee on the Elimination of Racial Discrimination. Students will be introduced to the basic structure of Human Rights documents and agencies and how nongovernmental organizations, lawyers and community activists can utilize international human rights tribunals to achieve their goals of government accountability.

LAW 57012. FAMILY LAW & INTERNATIONAL TRIBUNALS: THE HAGUE CONVENTION ON CIVIL ASPECTS OF INTL CHILD ABDUCTION. 1 Credit.
This course will explore the promulgation, implementation, and mechanics of the Hague Convention on Civil Aspects of International Child Abduction (Convention). The Convention may be a bilateral and/or multilateral instrument between member states. This course will explore the accession and ratification process to the Convention and the mutual obligations members states have for the enforcement of Convention provisions. From global jurisprudence to individual state jurisprudence, the course will explore the overall effectiveness of the Convention and how individual state parties meet their obligations under the Convention. The course will also examine the specific elements that must be met in every Request for Return Petition. The Convention has created international tribunals for family court proceedings within fairly narrow parameters. It provides an opportunity to critically examine global jurisprudence on civil aspects of international child abduction.

LAW 57013. THE UNITED STATES AND THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE. 1 Credit.
This course explores the relationship of the United States to the International Court of Justice [ICJ], "the principal judicial organ of the United Nations" based in the Peace Palace in the Hague. Students will study the ICJ’s foundations in the United Nations Charter and the Statute of the International Court of Justice, the role of the United States in creating the ICJ after World War II, and the bases whereby states assent to the jurisdiction of the Court in contentious cases. After briefly sketching the outlines of the eighteen cases in which the U.S. has appeared as applicant or respondent before the ICJ since 1950, we will focus on three foundational ICJ opinions from the late Cold War and post-Cold War eras: the Diplomatic and Consular Staff Case (United States v. Iran, 1980), Military and Paramilitary Activities in Nicaragua (Nicaragua v. United States, 1984 (jurisdiction) and 1986 (merits)), and Avena (Mexico v. United States, 2004). As students study these cases, they will prepare for a substantial oral advocacy exercise on the last day of class involving a complex and realistic hypothetical in which a treaty partner of the United States attempts to enforce U.S. obligations respecting the human rights of foreign nationals detained in the United States as terrorism suspects and allegedly subjected to torture. The experience will allow students to develop perspectives and analytic skill sets required to solve complex legal problems relating to jurisdictional conflicts and transnational enforcement of norms and judgments.

LAW 57014. COMPARATIVE LAW AND RELIGION. 1 Credit.
This course examines, in national, international, and comparative context, the law governing the relationship between religion and the state. We will first explore different theoretical and cultural models of the proper relationship between religion and the state, including the Spanish, German, French, and American paradigms. We will also examine the international law covenants and regional human rights regimes designed to protect religious freedom. After our exploration of the theoretical and legal landscape concerning the relationship between religion and the state, we will turn to a comparative examination of how different legal regimes address specific problems. These problems include the autonomy of religious institutions, the question of financial aid to religion, and the role of religion in education.
LAW 57015. INTL TRIBUNALS & THE LAW OF WAR. 1 Credit.
The international law of war and the use of force are vital issues and are a central part of the docket in three of The Hague’s international tribunals: the International Criminal Court (ICC), International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia (ICTY), and International Court of Justice (ICJ).The presence of each of these courts in The Hague confirms the importance of the rule of law among nations and accountability for those who engage in war crimes and crimes against humanity, including the slaughter of civilians. The class will start with a brief history of war crimes tribunals, including the Nuremberg tribunals after World War II. With this history as backdrop, the class will address a basic question: what factors distinguish ordinary crime, where the use of lethal force by state officials requires an immediate threat to life, from armed conflict, in which states have a “combatant’s privilege” to use lethal force against adversaries? The class will move on to the general principles of the law of armed conflict (LOAC) that inform the work of the ICTY and ICC – touchstones such as the principle of distinction, which bars the targeting of civilians, and the principle of proportionality, which prohibits incidental or collateral harm to civilians that is “excessive” in light of the military advantage expected from an attack.The class will then examine responsibility for war crimes – including controversial theories pioneered by The Hague’s ICTY, such as Joint Criminal Enterprise (JCE), which can result in a finding of guilt for a mere “cog in the wheel” of the murder of civilians. The legitimacy of international tribunals will also be a subject of class discussion – do international tribunals from Nuremberg to the present criminalize conduct after its commission, which would violate elementary notions of notice and fairness embodied in international law’s principle of legality (and the U.S. Constitution’s Ex Post Facto Clause)? Has the ICC forfeited its credibility by focusing so much on Africa (some disillusioned observers now call the ICC the “African Criminal Court”), to the arguable detriment of accountability elsewhere? Has the U.S. forfeited credibility by declining to join the ICC, and by enacting the so-called “Hague Invasion Act,” which authorizes the President to use military force to rescue an entirely hypothetical U.S. person who might in the indeterminate future be detained at the ICC pursuant to war crimes charges?Finally, the class will analyze international law on aggression, now embodied in Articles 2(4) and 51 of the U.N. Charter, which authorize a state to use force only in self-defense in response to an “armed attack.” The class will address the meaning of “armed attack” on a state’s territory and in the emerging area of cyberspace. On the use of force and in other aspects of the class, I plan to supplement discussion with visits to the relevant tribunals and guest speakers such as judges and advocates.

LAW 57016. THE WORLD AT STAKE! INTERNATIONAL ENVIRONMENTAL ADJUDICATION AND ARBITRATION. 1 Credit.
Environmental law has rapidly become one of the chief focuses of international adjudication and arbitration. In recent years, for example, international tribunals have: decided that China violated international environmental law by trying to build sovereign islands in the South China Sea, fueling an already tense international controversy; held that Japan in effect lied about its supposedly “scientific” whale-hunting program, in an unprecedented intentional rebuke; and concluded that U.S.-led wildlife concerns might override free trade rules to protect species of international concern, such as dolphins and sea turtles. Meanwhile, the myriad threats of climate change portend complex and expensive international litigation and arbitration. Most of these international environmental law matters are decided in the Hague, either at the International Court of Justice or at the Permanent Court of Arbitration.This course will survey the international litigation and arbitration of environmental law (a natural fit for international law, as the oceans, air, and wildlife do not respect international boundaries!). It will introduce the leading treaties of environmental law, such as the Convention on the Law of the Sea, the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species, and the International Whaling Convention, and how these treaties mesh and sometimes conflict with other international law principles, such as the rules of the World Trade Organization. In addition, we will focus on a handful of specific matters (such as South China Sea controversies), in which we will discuss both law (including reading original international documents) and professional strategy. The course will use eye-catching images and videos (for example, whale-hunting clips), along with thought-provoking questions of litigation tactics and international diplomacy.

LAW 57017. REPARATIONS IN DOMESTIC AND INTERNATIONAL MASS CLAIMS PROCESSES. 1 Credit.
As compensation and remedies for damages become more global and international processes develop to account for mass claims, this course will allow students to appreciate other methods of dispute resolution beyond U.S. litigation and traditional ADR. It will introduce the students to mass claims litigation in the United States and allow them to study international reparations programs, through both international mass claims processes and the human rights lens of domestic reparation programs.This course will provide students a cross-over between domestic and international law through the lens of mass claims processes. The course will begin with a survey of class action litigation focusing on the requirements to certify a class. Specifically we will look at class actions as a precursor to the 9/11 Commission and reparations for victims of 9/11. We will also discuss the Holocaust claims class action against the Swiss banks that was filed in the Eastern District of New York, concurrently with the work done at the Claims Resolution Tribunal. This discussion will allow us to move to international reparations, where we will discuss the processes and procedures of the Claims Resolution Tribunal, along with the reparations provided by the Claims Resolution Tribunal to victims of the Holocaust or their heirs. In addressing these claims, I anticipate using material gathered from my five years working at the Claims Resolution Tribunal. We will also discuss reparations programs developed by the United Nations Compensation Commission, reparations provided by the Iran-U.S. Claims Tribunal, and the reparations that are anticipated from the Victim’s Fund of the International Criminal Court. Again, I will use documents that I have assembled from my work at the United Nations Compensation Commission and the U.S. Department of State. Finally, the class will focus on domestic reparation programs that arise as a result of human rights violations. To cover this topic, I will focus on programs in Hungary, Argentina, and South Africa.
LAW 57018. HUMAN RIGHTS IN INTERNATIONAL FAMILY LAW. 1 Credit.
The purpose of this course is to explore the international legal framework in place to protect human rights primarily within one area, that of family law. The course will look at some of the international organizations, (e.g. the United Nations, the Hague Conference on Private International Law) and treaties (e.g., U.N. Convention on the Rights of the Child), as well as regional organizations (e.g., Council of Europe, EU), instruments that help protect families and children. National courts and institutions and their part will also be examined. The course will emphasize the role played by private international law in protecting families and children cross-border. The intersection of human rights and religion in family law will also be explored, as for example in the area of forced marriage/child marriage. Current initiatives underway at the Hague Conference including in the area of cross-border surrogacy serve as case studies to examine the intersection of private international law and substantive law, public law and private rights, and the ways that private international law can shape and support underlying human rights. We will evaluate how well the existing mechanisms and institutions work to keep pace with the dynamic changes in these areas and protect human rights. The class will also explore the cutting edge developments in the jurisprudence of the Hague Child Abduction Convention and the role of regional European instruments (e.g., European Conv. on Human Rights) to secure human rights; the role of the Hague Child Protection Convention in protecting children crossing borders, refugees, and human trafficking.

LAW 57019. WAR CRIMES & CRITS-MARTIALS. 1 Credit.
This course will examine international law governing both the conventional and the modern battlefield – jus in bello – as it applies to military service members and to illegal combatants. The Law of Armed Conflict and the Geneva Conventions form the core of the course, alongside an introduction of the U.S. military justice system through review of the Uniform Code of Military Justice and the Manual for Courts-Martial. A comparison to prosecution through international tribunals such as the International Criminal Court and United Nations tribunals is included, as well as examining ethical concerns through the specific topics of torture, targeted killing, use of drones, and rules of engagement. Current events and historical cases illustrate course content and provide thoughtful opportunities for class discussion and analysis. Students will gain an appreciation for the interaction of the ideals of international law and practical moral dilemmas of engaging in combat.

LAW 57020. INTL CONSUMER & PRIVACY LAW. 1 Credit.
Governments around the world work together and separately to protect consumers from fraudulent, deceptive, and unfair trade practices. Global trade has encouraged countries to endeavor to create some level of consistency in consumer protection and privacy law, which has been promoted by the United Nations, in its Guidelines for Consumer Protection, and ICPEN, which unites consumer protection authorities around the world. While many consider consumer protection and privacy to be a basic human right, lesser developed and developing nations often have enormous disparities in education levels and bargaining power between the manufacturers and sellers of products, and the buyers. This course will consider the evolution of consumer and privacy law from private disputes to public international law and human rights.

LAW 57021. INTERNATIONAL INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY ALTNERATE DISPUTE RESOLUTION. 1 Credit.
This course will review what constitutes IP and the international treaties & bodies involved in addressing IP disputes via arbitration and mediation.

LAW 57022. INTL NEGOTIATION & MEDIATION. 1 Credit.
This will be an in depth discussion of the principles of negotiation and mediation as applied to international issues from the peace accords in North Ireland to the Orange Revolution in the Ukraine to war reparations. It is a study in history and human rights as well as the art of negotiation.

LAW 57023. GLOBAL AGING. 1 Credit.
The world's elder population is growing because of demographic trends and longer lifespans. According to the UN, the world's elder population will grow by 56% over the next 12 years, and will double to 2.1 billion by 2050. Any national or international human rights laws touch upon the needs of elders, but discrimination, abuse, and the medical problems associated with aging often stigmatize and marginalize elders as a unique group. Different nations have addressed these concerns and challenges with some success, but best practices rarely cross international borders. This course will consider aging policy and law around the globe, and the efforts to create a UN Convention on the Rights of Older People.

LAW 57024. COMPARATIVE INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL LAW & PROCEDURE. 1 Credit.
The course begins with an analysis of the concept of International Criminal Law. What is it? Does it make sense? What are the sources of such law and how is it authoritative? The class will take a close look at the law and practice of the International Criminal Court and various issues of international criminal procedure. The class will examine issues like jurisdiction, admissibility of evidence, prosecutorial powers, rights of the accused, basic adjudicative procedures, and the like. Differences in criminal procedure in various states focusing on the U.S., Canada, and European based systems of criminal justice and procedure with concentration on search and seizure, police arrest power, and the interrogation of criminal suspects will be discussed and examined. As an overarching theme, the course examines how changes and trends in politics and political ideology relate to the actual practice of criminal law at the international and domestic level.

LAW 57025. INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS & POLICING IN THE U.S.. 1 Credit.
In May 2015, the City of Chicago established a $5.5 million reparations fund for over 100 African American men tortured by Chicago police officers over the course of two decades (between 1973 and 1991). This course will focus on how lawyers with the assistance of community organizations placed pressure on the City of Chicago government to establish Reparations for these torture victims. We will discuss how these legal activists leveraged their participation in international human rights tribunals of the United Nations –e.g., hearings held by the UN Committee Against Torture (CAT) and the UN Committee on the Elimination of Racial Discrimination (CERD) as well as the InterAmerican Commission on Human Rights -- to successfully pressure the City of Chicago to establish reparations. The reparations included not only a reparations fund, but an educational curriculum for middle and high school students telling the truth about this dark period of Chicago policing history; a monument to the victims of torture; a public apology from the City; and psychological support for the victims and their families. This four day (12.5 hour) class will introduce students to the basic structure of human rights agencies and relevant international treaties. We will also focus on how nongovernmental organizations, lawyers, and community activists can utilize international human rights tribunals and human rights community education to achieve the goals of government accountability around the issue of police violence in the United States.
LAW 57026. JUSTICE ON TRIAL - THE NUREMBERG JUSTICE TRIALS OF 1947. 1 Credit.
Judgment at Nuremberg,” the 1961 movie with Spencer Tracy and Burt Lancaster, was riveting but not fanciful. The film is based on the Nuremberg Justice Trial of 1947 before a military tribunal. Sixteen defendants, members of the Reich Ministry of Justice or People’s and Special Courts, faced prosecution for their complicity in enforcing unjust laws against the so-called enemies of the Nazi regime. The student will receive a brief overview of the German civil law system and will examine the judicial system as operated by the Nazis from 1933-1945. The student will become acquainted with the major defendants, the judges, the major prosecutors, and defense lawyers. On reading portions of the court decision and trial transcripts, the student will gain an insight into how a Western European legal system failed the people it was intended to protect. The course is relevant to an understanding of contemporary international tribunals addressing criminal conduct and crimes against humanity.

LAW 58000. CLIMATE JUSTICE: U.S. AND INTERNATIONAL DIMENSIONS. 1 Credit.
The regulation of climate change has taken center stage internationally and regionally as the world braces for increasingly more severe impacts from the carbon-intensive global economy. In recent years, adaptation to these impacts has become a primary focus of global efforts to ensure the health and safety of the most vulnerable communities of the world such as the urban and rural poor, low lying island nations, indigenous peoples, and future generations in the face of climate change impacts. Climate justice emerged as part of the global response to these impacts. Climate justice focuses on the disproportionate burden of climate change impacts on the poor and marginalized and seeks to secure a more equitable allocation of the burdens of these impacts at the local, national, and global levels through proactive regulatory initiatives and reactive judicial remedies that draw on international human rights and domestic environmental justice theories. This course addresses climate justice from U.S. and international law perspectives and considers legal responses to promote climate justice in several regions of the world. It also evaluates regulatory obstacles under international law, U.S. law, and foreign domestic law in seeking to promote climate justice on a global scale. Topics will include atmospheric trust litigation, climate change and indigenous peoples, climate refugees and international human rights law, efforts to incorporate climate justice principles into the international climate change treaty negotiations, engaging the private sector to promote climate justice, and climate justice case studies in Florida.

LAW 58001. HEALTH LAW ISSUES AND HUMAN RIGHTS IN AFRICA. 1 Credit.
This course will explore Health Law and Human Rights issues that make the African continent unique and will highlight, in particular, the dilemma and predicament of the African Women and the current strategies and interventions to address these. It will increase the understanding of the role and application of International Treaties dealing with the Human Rights in Africa, the Convention on the Elimination of Discrimination Against Women (CEDAW), the International Bill of Rights, local and regional laws like The Protocol to the African Charter on Human and Peoples’ Rights, as well as the role of WHO, UNAIDS and other international organizations. The course will highlight the relationship between certain socio cultural acceptances, practices and the African woman’s vulnerability to HIV/AIDS and other infectious diseases, like Ebola and Zika viruses, and the impact of societal and government policies that may exacerbate or institutionalize the marginalization of the African woman. The roles of custom and the law. The course will further explore the pros and cons of the health choices of the African woman in the light of their social and cultural environment and its implications for a better understanding of both the Western and African cultures.

LAW 58002. NELSON MANDELA AND INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS. 1 Credit.
This course will examine some of the legal international human rights related documents, looking at them through the lens of Nelson Mandela. Starting with the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, a document that has been stated to have given him inspiration during his incarceration, to the adoption and later ratification by South Africa of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR) and the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (ICESCR). Students will consider the substantive terms of these covenants as well as their procedural application. In studying these documents a focus will be on their role in the life of South African activist and former president Nelson Mandela.

LAW 58003. SOUTH AFRICA: FROM APARTHEID TO DEMOCRACY. 1 Credit.
This course tracks South Africa’s political transition from the Apartheid Era to a modern democracy. Students will learn about the legal institutions structures supporting apartheid (including forced removals, travel restrictions, prohibition of interracial marriage) and suppression of resistance to race-based policies. They will also learn about the movements and pressures (internal and external) that led to the fall of apartheid. Finally, the course will explore the South Africa’s transition to the Government of National Unity and its current form of government, including the structures of the new parliamentary representative democratic republic and the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996.
